The Hog Slanders the Hen

Eggs fried in hog-fat are hard to digest. The action of the fat on the albumin of the egg gives it the character and texture of rubber, and a greasy varnish over the whole.

The fault is laid to the hen instead of the hog.

For giris about to enter womanhood, women about to become mothers and for the changing days of middle age, Dr. Fierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand.

It's a temperance remedy that is extracted from roots with pure glycerine and its ingredients are published on wrapper.

Any medicine dealer can supply it in either liquid or tablet form. The cost is modest, the restorative benefits truly remarkable. Write Dr. Pierce, Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Reciting at length the long litigation o get the New York Central tracks out of Eleventh Avenue through both courts and legislature, Mr. Burr con-

"The Legislature in 1911 passed an act authorizing an agreement between the city and the railroad company for the purpose of removing the tracks at the expense of the railroad. Mr. Mitchel then was President of the Board of Aldermen and had charge of the matter. A tentative agreement had been made and printed.

"A question was raised by some tax-paying association whether the city owned four and one-half miles of land lying under water from Seventy-second Street to Spuyten Duyvil. referring to the Amsterdam case, "after I had written a letter to the Commission advising that the stop application be not approved because of the city's franchise suit, Mr. Maltble called me up and said they had been threatened with mandamus proceedings unless they took action. He said they had been advised by their counsel that if the questions of stock purchase and of merger be kept separate the city's interest would be protected and he wanted my consent.

"I told him he would have to do as he thought proper as I would not withdraw the objections of the city. Subsequently, however, assistants in my office examined into the question and I came to the same conclusion as the counsel to the Public Service Commission, but I said nothing about this and never discussed it with Maltble until after the Commission had taken its action."
